HONGKONG, JANUARY 5TH, 1892. AFTER an existence of barely over a year the first Japanese Parliament has been dissolved, and next month the country will be in the throes of a general election. It was E. S. Ezekiel perhaps hardly to be expected that the first Parliament should be one of long duration. Representative government being entirely new to the country and parties being in an imperfect stage of organisation and constant. ly undergoing kaleidoscopic changes, the difficulty the Government has experienced in the three steamer companies have been practikeeping a working majority was inevitable. The Hyogo News, referring to the crisis immediately before the announcement of the dissolution, writes :- "A Cabinet without n "following, an Opposition without cohesion, "a Parliament without principles.
